Objectives

A goal without a plan is just a wish. We want to establish a website that serves the portion of community who are interested in going abroad for higher studies, project, something related to education by –

i. Giving a bunch of numbers of universities, colleges, and service institutions that provides opportunity for them.

ii. Skills needed by various institution to be accepted.

iii. the detailed process of the System.

iv. community platform for helping each other

v. give expert sugession about it.

Description

People wants to go to abroad. So we decided to built a website that helps with information about the institutions, the scholarships they provides, requirement skills, application process, passport-visa and other formalities, accomodation and other facility, and other opportunity related things. We can give sugessions based on the degrees, skillsets of a student where he/she should try.
The website will have many functionality such as descriptive data, forums, Q/A section, blog by experts and finally some examples with the good authority links.

The website

Our website contains various sections such as a list of colleges and universities that offers such kind of scholarship opportunity. Where the data can be sorted using basic criterias.
There will be a blog section where expert people can give advice and ...
